ANUTHER TWEED SCARE.

Rumored Escape of the Ex-Boss-Binck-well's Island invaded by a Force of Armed Police-Mysterious Faise Signal and Break in the Communication.

Ever since the rumored escape of Tweed from his island home the authorities have been the very embodiment of watchfulness lest rumor should be but the forerunner of reality. No better illustra-tion of this fact could be given than the intense excitement caused at a late hour last night by the repetition of the report of the noted crimmal's escape. So alarming and apparently well-counded was the news considered that it was firmly believed for a long time by men not prone to magnes of imagination that not only had Tweed escaped, but half the convicts on Blackwell's mand had followed suit. It came about as fol

At exactly half-past nine o'clock last night, as the bookkeeper of the Commissioners of Charities and Correction, Mr. Hedden, was preparing to leave his office, he heard the ominous signal on the telegraph line, as it came from the Pentten mary on Blackwell's Island, "444," which, trans lated, means, "Send a section of police imme-diately; great danger." This is the most important signal in the entire list, and is never transmitted except in cases of extreme peril. The alarming communication was addressed to the Nineteenth precinct station house, out the same wire running into the Commissioner's office the signal was simultaneously recorded at the latter place. Mr. Hedden rushed to the telegraph key to ask for particulars, but hardly had his fingers touched the instrument when snap went the wire. The current of communication was broken.

After waiting in breathless anxiety for ten minutes, the operator ran in hot baste to the residence of Commissioner Laimbeer with the startling information that prisoners were escaping from Biackweil's Island. In a twinkling Mr. Laimbeer comprehended the situation, and, jumping into a carriage, drove rapidly to the Filty-ninth street station house. Arrived there he interrogated the sergeant about the signal, but the latter knew nothing, save the fact that just as he was about to respond to the Penitentiary call the telegraph ceased to work. "Quick! a section of men to Filty-second street and first avenue," ordered the Commissioner, and in less than five minutes a dozen policemen were running at till speed toward the point named. At this juncture a Herald reporter happened on the scene, and, learning the above facts, joined the officers, who never stopped running until they reached the row boat in waiting at the foot of Fitty-second street, East River. As many as it would noid at once jumped in, the reporter among the number, and the boatman piled his oars with a vigor worthy the occasion. The night was dark and gloomy, just the evening on which to ATTEMPT AN ESCAPE.

Each policeman instantly left for his revolver, examined the same and made up his mind for a desperate encounter. Every man of them believed that Tweed had escaped, Landed on the Island, the party rushed to the Warden's office, where they found Commissioner Laimbeer awaiting their arrival. Joining the Commissioner the Herald man proceeded to find Warden Liscomb, from whom it was ascertained that no signal of danger had intentionally been sent. It was all a mistake. He could not, however, account for the mysterious break of all of the wires. He assured the Commissioner that the ex-Boss was soundly siceping in his bed. On learning this Mr. Laimbeer returned to the boat and re-embarked for the city, only to find, on his arrival at the New York side, more breathless policemen anxiously awaiting transportation to the Island.

REPUBLICAN GENERAL CJMMITTEE ling information that prisoners were escaping from Blackweil's Island. In a twinkling Mr.

WOMAN'S SOCIAL EDUCATION SOCIETY.

A meeting of this society took place yesterday afternoon at Plimpton Hall, Mrs. Dr. Wetherbee. the Vice President, in the chair. The attendance was not large and was entirely composed of ladies. Mrs. R. T. Hallock delivered a lecture upon ones. Mrs. R. T. Hallock delivered a lecture upon withe Spiritnal Nature of Woman." She took the main ground that Eve, proceeding from Adam, was therefore of a higher nature, and that man stood between woman and the lower animals, and the lecturer dwelt generally upon the Biblican traditions to support her theory. She thought that Adam and the serpent were in collision to betray Eve. The lecture as a whole was a very diverting one.

OBITUARY.

Dudley S. Gregory.

In the record of self-made men few can be found who have made a greater impress on their genery. yesterday afternoon, at three o'clock, at his restdence, corner of Washington and Sussex Lireets, Jersey City. He was born at Reading, Conn., on the 5th of Pebruary, 1800, and consequently had nearly attained his seventy-fifth year. When only twelve years old he went to Albany, where his great grand-uncle kept the "Fagle Tavern," a famous resort for Martin Van Buren and his political compeers. He obtained a clerkship in the State Comptroller's office under Governor Marcy, and this position he held under successive administrations, though a pronounced federalist. To his latest hour he pointed with pride to the fact that the table of estimates of the Erie Canal which he made while holding this office is considered a basis in the de-partment to the present day. On leaving this department he entered into business with the lottery firm of Yates & McIntyre. The business tell eventually into his own hands, and he continued therein till the passage of the law declaring lotteries illegal. On the visit of Lafayette to this country Mr. Gregory was captain of the New York State escort to the Massachusetts boundary. He went to Jersey City in 1830, and there his career war one of uninterrupted prosperity. As a member of the famous Jersey Associates he purchased large tracts of waste lands, which have since been so improved as to become the great business portion of the city. His liberality in helping consregations to erect churches knew no sect or creed. On the incorporation of the city he was elected its first Mayor, and was re-elected for several terms. He established the first savings bank in Jersey City and retained the presidency thereof till his death. He was elected to Congress in the whig interest in 1848, and served one term. His railroad record commenced about the year 1844, when he was elected a director of the New Jersey Railroad. This position he held until the lease of that road to the Pennsylvania three years ago. To that lease he offered the most uncompromising opposition. He was at the same time a director of the Eric Railway, of which he was appointed receiver. He was in the minority who voted against the issue of ten millions, which led to the Vangerbitt-Drew improglio and the flight of Drew, Fisk and Gould to Jersey City. Among the many positions he neld at the time of his death were the following:—Trustee of the Equitable Life Insurance Company, Director of the Equitable Life Insurance Company, Director of the Commercial Rank of New York, of the State Insurance and Hudson County Bank and Jersey City Fire Insurance Company.

His generosity to struggling and deserving men was one of the most remarkable traits of his character. The late Horace Greeley, in his character. The late Horace Greeley in Makes grateful mention of the fact that the first benefactor he met when ne emoarked in business therein till the passage of the law declaring lot-teries illegal. #### Thomas Dunphy.

A complication of diseases with which Mr. Thomas Dunphy, a well-known lawyer of this city, manfully struggled for some time past, culminated in his death on Monday night last. Mr. Dunphy was formerly a partner of Edwin James, and for years enjoyed a very lucrative practice. He was a good nisi prius lawyer, and was intrusted with the charge of numerous important suits. He possessed many scholarly attainments, having graduated in Trinity College, Dublin, and was altogether highly accomplished. In social circles he was much esteemed for his generous and hearty disposition, and his demise will be regretted by a nost of friends who were wont to be entertained by his flowing wit and humor. Mr. Dunpny, who was only forty-one years of ago, was the eldest son of Mr. John Dunphy, Mountmellick, Oueens county, Ireland.

General Sir John F. Smith, R. E. The death is announced (November 25) of Gen eral Sir John Frederic Smith, a well known officer of English engineers. He entered the army in 1805—nearly seventy years ago—and saw a good deal of active service. Latterly he represented Chatham in the House of Commons, and devoted much of his attention to literature.

Admiral John C. G. R. Gawen, R. N.

[From the London Telegraph, Nov. 26.] Retired Admiral John Charles Gawen Roberts Gawen died on the 21st inst., at his residence in Park street, Grosvenor square, at the advanced age of eighty-seven years. His active services were briefly as follows:—As Lieutenant of the Pompée ne was present at the defence of Galeta; at the reduction of Capri; attack on Fort Licoss in the memorable passage of the Dardanelles; and afterward at Copenhagen, in 1807. He was senior afterward at Copenhagen, in 1807. He was senior heuternant of the Shearwater in her escape from the French fleet off Toulon, in 1810. As lieutenant of the Centaur he assisted at the slege of Tarragona, and commanded a division of gunboats at the delence of Cadiz. As commander of the Merape he was employed on the coast of Catalonia, and when commander of the Pylades was wounded in her boats in recapturing an East Indiaman, in the Bay of Fundy, in 1814. He obtained his commission as ileutenant, october 12, 1805.

Mrs. L. P. Cutler's lecture on Monday night drew together a fine audience of some of our best people. The lady lecturer was piquant and satiricai on the follies and vices of fashionable life, and drew some touching and beautiful pictures of true marriage and the real home happiness founded on that basis. The lecture was listened to throughout with the greatest attention and was frequently applicated.

The United States sloop-of-war St. Mary's, which has been assigned by the Navy Department for service in New York harbor as a schoolship, under the Board of Education, sailed from Boston on Monday in company with the United States steamer Gettysourg. It is expected that she will arrive here to-day. She will at once occupy her berth at the foot of East Twenty-hird street, Notice will be given some time this week of her readiless to receive pupils.

Mr. R. H. Huntley, of Brooklyn, a well known gentieman, is having constructed at Bay Shore a forty feet cabin yacht. There is a prospect that the British schooner

Mabel Lent, reported ashore opposite Mastic, may be saved. She was hove off a few feet on Sunday, and after discharging cargo can doubtless be floated. The schooner Haines, from Battimore for Boston, is reported to have come ashore on the sort uit, east of Jones' linet, but it was not known that she suffered any special injury.

The conduct of the two negro murderers, Lewis

Jarvis and Elbert Jackson, in the Queens County Jail, under sentence of death for killing Samuel J Jones, at South Oyster Bay, is in marked contrast one with the other. Jarvis is reported by the one with the other. Jarvis is reported by the keepers to exhibit no emotion regarding his position, and to be apparently reckless as to his fare. frequently giving expression to a desire to "get square" with one two other people before he dies. Jackson seems to feel his situation keenly, and is frequently engaged in prayer. Considerable sympathy is expressed for the latter, as he is beheved to have been influenced by Jarvis in the commission of his share of the crime. For the greater safety of the prisoners county Judge Armstrong has directed the Sheriff to remove them from the lower to the upper tier of cells, where a constant watch is kept upon them day and night.

NEW JERSEY.

Ex-Governor Randolph is working vigorously for the United States Senatorship. The contest lies now between him and attorney General Gil-christ.

The trial of Alexander Hamilton, the defaulting treasurer of Jersey City, which was set down for yesterday, was postponed till next Monday.

A new charter is being drafted for Jersey City by Senator-elect Leon Abbett and Assemblyman-elect Alexander T. McGill, the committee appointed at the recent conference of democratic members of the Legislature.

The great boulevard scheme, which was defeated in the Legislature last session, is to be revived at the ensuing session, is to be revived at the ensuing session, under the auspices of the Hudson County Real Estate Association. Great modifications are to be made in the scheme of last session.

Pull Reilly, who was pronounced by the Coroner's jury to have struck the blow that killed Livingstone, in Jersey City, has gone to South America. This is the only clew the authorities have to his whereabouts. The rumor that he escaped to Europe is unfounded.

Mayor Traphagen, of Jersey City, has refused to veto the ordinance authorizing the Eric Railway Company to lay tracks across Pavonia avenue to connect with the proposed ship canal, on the ground that public travel will not be impeded and that employment will be afforded to several hundred men.
